

September 24, 2012

Storeworks Selected As Elo's Partner of the Year for 2012

Storeworks is proud to announce their selection as Elo Touch Solutions "Partner of the Year" for 2012.

"The innovation and creativity that Storeworks brings to the table involving our displays made them the ideal recipient of this award," said Luke Wilwerding of Elo Touch Solutions. "They design cutting-edge, custom kiosk solutions that make us relevant in the eyes of retailers."

"Elo is, and always has been, a logical partner for us," said Andrew Teitscheid, VP of Sales at Storeworks. "They have the best displays in the industry, making it easy to design around their product line whether it be for point of sale, interactive displays, or custom, endless aisle kiosks. Together we're changing digital signage; we've barely scratched the surface of what's possible."

"This is one of those partnerships that makes my job easier," said Wilwerding. "I know when Storeworks is involved, good things are going to happen."

About Elo Touch Solutions

Elo Touch Solutions is a leading global supplier of touch-enabled products and solutions. The Elo portfolio encompasses the broadest selection of touchscreen components, touchmonitors, and all-in-one touchcomputers for the demanding requirements of diverse markets and applications, including industrial, medical, POS, kiosks, retail, hospitality, transportation, office automation and gaming. Since Elo founders pioneered the touchscreen over 40 years ago, Elo touchscreens have consistently delivered one common, powerful result – advanced computer technology simplified through touch. For more information on Elo products and services, please contact your Storeworks Agent.